NOTICE OF HEARING
ON PROPOSED
ADMINISTRATIVE REGULATIONS

A public hearing will be conducted from 9-9:30 a.m. Tuesday, January 17, at the office of the Securities Commissioner of Kansas, Suite 552, Landon State Office Building, 900 S.W. Jackson, Topeka, to consider the amendment of a permanent regulation of the commissioner.

All interested parties may submit written comments prior to the hearing to the commissioner at the address above. All interested parties will be given a reasonable opportunity at the hearing to express their views orally in regard to adoption of the proposed amendment and revocations. Following the hearing, all written and oral comments submitted by interested parties will be considered by the commissioner as a basis for making any changes to the proposed amendment.

The following is a brief summary of the purpose of the proposed amendment to the regulation and the anticipated fiscal impact:

K.A.R. 81-5-6. Uniform limited offering exemption. The availability of the exemption is conditioned on compliance with federal regulation D adopted under the 1933 Securities Act. The proposed amendment updates the reference to the federal regulation to incorporate recent amendments, and changes the Form D filing requirements to be consistent with those federal amendments. The amendment also involves minor changes in grammar and syntax, which do not substantively change the regulation.

There is no determinable fiscal impact of this amendment on this agency, businesses regulated by this agency, or the general public.

Copies of the full text of the proposed amendment and regulation and the fiscal impact statement may be obtained by writing to the office of the Securities Commissioner.

KANSAS DENTAL BOARD

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED ADMINISTRATIVE REGULATIONS

A public hearing will be held at the business offices of the Kansas Board of Dental Examiners, 4301 Huntoon, Topeka, at 8 a.m. Saturday, January 21, at which all licensed dentists, dental hygienists and all other interested parties will be given the opportunity to present their views and arguments concerning the proposed amendments to regulations 71-2-1, 71-2-2, 71-2-3, 71-2-4, 71-2-5, 71-2-6, 71-2-7, 71-2-9, 71-2-11, 71-2-12, 71-4-1, and the revocation of regulation 71-2-13, which are to be considered by the Dental Board at the public hearing. These regulations are summarized as follows:

Proposed amendment to Regulation 71-2-1. This regulation deals with the application for specialist certificate which is to be filed at least 60 days before the examination in a specialty. The amendment modernizes and clarifies the language.

Proposed amendment to Regulation 71-2-2. This regulation defines the branches of dentistry recognized by the Kansas Dental Board for which a specialist certificate application may be made. The amendments to this regulation clarify the language and utilize current definitions of the specialties generally recognized within the profession. The recognized branches of dentistry are oral and maxillofacial surgery, orthodontics, prosthodontics, pediatric dentistry, periodontics, public health dentistry, endodontics, and oral pathology.

Proposed amendment to Regulation 71-2-3. This regulation governs the appointment and composition of the specialty committees of the Kansas Dental Board. The regulation has previously provided a specialty committee of five, three of whom were to be members of the Kansas Dental Board and two dentists licensed in the respective specialty. This involvement of Dental Board members on the various specialty committees is deemed unnecessary; therefore, the size of the specialty committees is reduced in the proposed amendment to two members licensed in the specialty with a chairman to be appointed from among the committee members by the Dental Board.

Proposed amendment to Regulation 71-2-4. This regulation addresses the procedure for handling applications. The proposed amendment clarifies the procedure and the language. The principal change is a clear statement that the decision to grant a specialist's certificate is made by the board based on information provided to the board by the appropriate specialty committee concerning the applicant.

Proposed amendment to Regulation 71-2-5. This regulation states the qualifications and requirements of an applicant for certification as a specialist. Each applicant is required to complete a graduate program in the specialty for which certification is sought. The amendment recognizes that the graduate program may be in a dental school, college, or other dental specialty program and that such program will have been approved by the Kansas Dental Board using an ascertainable standard for its determination. The regulation also recognizes that a dentist licensed in Kansas and holding a specialist's certificate granted in another state may be licensed in Kansas without examination if the dentist has actively practiced in the specialty for a period of five years or is a diplomat of the American board of that specialty. The board retains the right to conduct examinations.

Proposed amendment to Regulation 71-2-6. This regulation relates to the fee for specialty examination which is to be determined by the board and paid at least 60 days before the date of examination. The amendment modernizes and clarifies the language.

Proposed amendment to Regulation 71-2-7. This regulation sets out additional requirements and qualifications of the applicant for a specialist certificate. It includes a requirement of a transcript, affidavits from practicing dentists as to the applicant's qualifications, and the requirement of an examination which may be both oral and written. The amendment modernizes and clarifies the language of the regulation.

Proposed amendment to Regulation 71-2-9. This regulation governs the structure and the substance of the specialist examinations. The amendment deletes substantially all of the present regulation set out in considerable detail with the subject matter and content of the examinations in each of the recognized branches of dentistry. It was the determination of the board based on advice of the specialty consultants that this format was unworkable. The amendment requires each specialty committee to develop an examination in accordance with specified standards set out in the regulation to be submitted to and approved by the board before use of the examination. The regulation also sets out procedures for conduct of the examination to enhance both validity and impartiality in the examination process.

Proposed amendment to Regulation 71-2-11. This regulation sets out the procedure for revocation of specialist certificates. This regulation provides that the certificate shall be revoked if the holder's license to practice dentistry is revoked and also permits revocation as a part of a disciplinary proceeding or based upon a court finding limiting the specialty practice of a dentist.

Proposed amendment to Regulation 71-2-12. This amendment requires candidate certification of the completeness of the records provided and the portions of the supporting materials prepared by the candidate or prepared by others.

Revocation of 71-2-13. Notice of practice limitation to a specialty is no longer required.

Proposed amendment to Regulation 71-4-1. This regulation governs the continuing education requirements for dentists and dental hygienists. The proposed amendment adds the requirement that a licensee holding a specialist certificate must satisfactorily complete 20 of the required 30 hours of continuing education in the specialty for which the dentist holds a specialist certificate.

The Kansas Dental Board has prepared an economic impact statement concerning the anticipated effect of the amendments to regulations described above and the repeal of regulation 71-2-13. In summary, that economic impact states that the proposed amendments to the regulations and the repeal of regulation 71-2-13 were undertaken for the purpose of clarifying and simplifying the regulations with respect to specialty examination committees and the conduct of specialty examinations. The board has been unable to identify a significant economic impact. The only increase in costs to the Kansas Dental Board may come from the requirement that a member of the board attend specialty examinations. This cost has been estimated at $350. The amendments to the regulations have not been mandated by federal law or as a requirement as participating or implementing a federally subsidized or assisted program. The regulations as amended and the regulation as repealed are believed to be a less intrusive method of achieving the stated purpose of the rules of the regulations. The moderate additional cost was deemed warranted by the need for the board to participate directly in the process of examination and certification of candidates for specialty certification under Kansas law.

The 30-day notice period also constitutes a public comment period for the purpose of receiving written public comments on the proposed regulations. All such comments are to be directed to the Kansas Dental Board at the address below.

All interested parties will be given an opportunity to present oral or written testimony in presenting their views and arguments in favor of or in opposition to the amendments to the regulations and the proposed revocation of regulation 71-2-13, as summarized above.

Upon written request, the full text of the proposed amendments to the regulations and the revocation of regulation 71-2-13, as well as a copy of the economic impact statement, may be obtained from the Kansas Dental Board, 4301 Huntoon, Topeka 66604.

Written comments are to be directed to and will be received by the board at the same address.

KANSAS RACING COMMISSION

NOTICE OF HEARING
ADMINISTRATIVE REGULATIONS

A public hearing will be conducted at 9 a.m. Tuesday, January 17, in the training room, second floor, 128 N. Kansas Ave., Topeka, to consider the adoption of proposed temporary and permanent regulations of the Kansas Racing Commission. This 30-day notice is to constitute a public comment period for the purpose of receiving written public comments on these proposed regulations.

A copy of the full text of the regulations and the economic impact statements may be reviewed or obtained at the commission office, 128 N. Kansas Ave., Topeka. The following is a summary of the regulations:

K.A.R. 112-4-1 through 112-4-9 include the requirements for application for, inspection of, examination, financial responsibility, and identification necessary to obtain and maintain any occupational license, which is required to engage in any of 65 specified occupations on a racetrack in Kansas.

K.A.R. 112-4-10 through 112-4-14 include the physical, medical, and performance requirements for qualification as a jockey, jockey-in-training, and apprentice jockey as well as the restrictions on the operation of jockey agents, who represent jockeys to interested parties at the track for purposes of employment. In addition, this collection of regulations includes the requirement that the appropriate officials be notified if a trainer appoints a substitute trainer. This requirement is critical, due to the "trainer's responsibility rule," which makes the regular trainer the sole agent of the owners of the horse or horses; the trainer is solely responsible for the condition of the horse or horses. In the event of substitution, the substitute trainer becomes equally responsible with the regular trainer.

K.A.R. 112-4-16 through 112-4-18 and 112-4-20 include the requirements for an individual to qualify as an owner or lessor of a racing horse or greyhound in Kansas. The regulations are critical to determining whether a horse or greyhound will be allowed to race in Kansas. The other regulation in this collection outlines the restrictions on the use of stable names, which aids in proper identification of horses to the wagering public.

These regulations, otherwise known as "Article Four" or "Occupation and Concessionaire Licenses," will have no economic impact on the Kansas Racing Commission or other state agencies because the cost of processing the license applications is born by license applicants who will pay from $5.00 to $20.00, depending on the license applied for, and $24.00 for the processing and checking of three fingerprint cards by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Kansas Bureau of Investigation. There is no cost to the general public, and the general public is benefited because the processing and investigation of occupational license applicants is a contribution to the integrity of the racing industry and wagering interests.

K.A.R. 112-5-1 through 112-5-9 include the duties and responsibilities of certain racetrack officials at racetracks for horses, which are the stewards, the starter, the paddock judge, patrol judges, placing judges, timers, clerk of scales, and the racing secretary.

These regulations, otherwise known as "Article Five" or "Racetrack Officials," have no economic impact on other state agencies or upon the general public. The regulations as to stewards affect the Kansas Racing Commission because the stewards are employees of the commission. However, the cost is not predictable because they are paid on a daily basis and their assignments may vary from short term to year around. In addition, the commission may require reimbursement from the organization licensee for services of the steward. All other racing officials are employees of independent track management corporations who contract with their employees. The commission did not consider a less expensive method of accomplishing the duties and responsibilities of these officials; the racing industry is by necessity a highly-regulated industry because of its vulnerability to organized crime.

K.A.R. 112-6-1 through 112-6-8 include the duties and responsibilities of certain racetrack officials at racetracks for greyhounds and include racing judges, the director of racing, the paddock judge, the kennel master, the clerk of scales, the starter, the lure operator, and the racing secretary.

These regulations, otherwise known as "Article Six," have no economic effect on other state agencies or the general public. The regulations concerning judges affect the Kansas Racing Commission because the judges are employees of the commission. However, the cost is unpredictable because they are paid on a daily basis and their assignments may vary from short term to year around. In addition, the commission may require reimbursement from the organization licensee for services of the steward. All other officials are employees of independent track management corporations who contract with their employees. The commission did not consider a less costly or intrusive method of accomplishing the duties and responsibilities of these officials because the racing industry is by necessity a highly regulated industry because of its vulnerability to organized crime.

K.A.R. 112-7-2 through 112-7-5 includes the regulations on ownership when a horse is registered to race in Kansas. These regulations define ownership of the horse, explain the position of parties in the event of the demise of an owner, state the trainer's sole right to ownership papers from the racing secretary of the racetrack, and state the positions of seller and buyer of horses sold or transferred with engagements.

These regulations have no economic impact on any state agency, except K.A.R. 112-7-4, Documents, which requires the stewards to decide questions of possession of ownership documents. It cannot be predicted how many of these disputes might arise in a single year in Kansas, therefore no dollar amount can be affixed to this function. The economic impact on owners and trainers in each of these regulations is one of ensuring that awards and purses from races are distributed to the parties with an interest in the horse at the time of the nomination or entry of a horse in a race, whether before or after the death of a party or before or after the sale of a horse.

K.A.R. 112-7-6 through 112-7-10 includes the responsibilities and duties of owners and trainers in registering, entering and receiving post positions for a race. The regulations prevent "ringers," or unqualified horses, from being entered, restrict the number of horses in a coupled entry and maintain the random choice for horses when choosing post positions.

The economic impact of these regulations is unknown at this time because the number of occurrences of the above instances is unknown. The cost incurred as a result of these regulations will be borne by the owners of horses entered.

K.A.R. 112-7-11 through 112-7-14 includes the procedures used to allow horses to be reassigned to later races, in addition to allowing younger, weaker performing horses to run with less weight than more experienced, stronger performing horses. The purpose of this group of regulations is to create fuller fields and increased wagering interests and to spread the wagering interest more evenly between horses.

The economic impact of these regulations creates an as yet undetermined cost for organization licensees. There is no economic impact on persons subject to the regulations or any state agency.

K.A.R. 112-7-15 through 112-7-17 include the rules for claiming ownership of a horse through a bid process made before the horse runs in a claiming race. The transfer of ownership occurs at the opening of the starting gate.

There is no economic impact on any agency; however, the wagering public is favorably affected because this system allows an increased wagering interest and keeps horses on the track for wagering purposes.

K.A.R. 112-7-18 through 112-7-20 includes the regulations in a horse race that protect the jockey's integrity through weighing requirements, the jockey's mount fee through its deposit with the "horsemen's bookkeeper" and the jockey's safety through helmet requirements.

The economic impact on the general public is that the wagering public is assured races on which to wager in which the jockeys are performing with the above protections. The cost to the jockey of a safety helmet is approximately $50.00. The helmet's effectiveness is not statistically evident in Kansas, except that in 19 days of racing at Eureka Downs in 1988, there were approximately six instances in which jockeys fell from horses during races.

K.A.R. 112-7-21 and K.A.R. 112-7-22 include the precise procedures for conduct of a horse race from the paddock to starting gate and out of starting gate, down the track and past the finish line. The regulations' intent is to give each horse an even chance to win, while giving the wagering public and the stewards the chance to closely observe each horse for physical appearance and behavior.

The economic impact of these regulations favorably affect the wagering public by restricting who can touch the horse or how certain persons can assist the jockey, thus restricting opportunities for the passing of "machines," which are unauthorized devices used to shock or otherwise stimulate a horse unfairly in a race. No agency is economically affected by these regulations.

K.A.R. 112-8-2 through 112-8-6 include the requirements and restrictions concerning registration, entry, withdrawal, schooling and qualifying greyhounds for pari-mutuel racing in Kansas.

The economic impact of these regulations falls mainly upon the organization licensee who is required to reserve certain days for schooling of greyhounds in racing and to draft the qualifications of a properly schooled greyhound. The general public is affected by these regulations in that the wagering public can be assured that greyhounds entered are properly identified, properly trained in racing and to the greatest extent possible, will race when entered unless excused by the judges. No agency can be stated at this time to be economically affected by these regulations.

K.A.R. 112-8-7 and K.A.R. 112-8-8 include the regulations requiring organization licensees of greyhound racetracks to implement a grading system and a purse system to allocate the total purse. This group also delineates the requirements for establishing the racing weight of a greyhound and the procedures for changing that weight.

The economic impact of these regulations will fall upon owners, trainers and organization licensees wishing to run greyhound races in Kansas or enter greyhounds in those races. No state agency will be economically affected, except that the judges, who are employees of the Kansas Racing Commission, will be required to take some action in allowing or scratching greyhounds from races that do not meet the weight requirements.

K.A.R. 112-8-9 through 112-8-12 include the procedures for ensuring the greyhound racing strip is safe for racing, the conduct of a greyhound race from show paddock to the starting box to the finish of the race, and limitations of organization licensees to no more than two performances daily, usually consisting of a matinee and an evening performance. In addition, the regulations include the procedure for filing complaints against racing officials.

The economic impact of these regulations affects the owners and trainers required to abide by them, as well as the Kansas Racing Commission, whose animal health officer and one racing judge is charged with daily duties at the track. At this time it is unknown how many race days may be authorized in Kansas annually, therefore no prediction of its cost can be made. There will be no effect on any other state agency. The general public and more specifically the wagering public will be positively affected by these regulations because the safety of racing, proper conduct during racing and the requirements for winning a race are addressed, assuring that the wagering interests can be preserved when the regulations are breached.

K.A.R. 112-12-2 through K.A.R. 112-12-13 include the requirements for registration of horses to participate in the Kansas Horse Breeding Development Fund, which is a registry of horses and a system by which the owners of Kansas-bred sires and dams of foals registered who win races in Kansas receive stallion and mare awards from the fund. Owners of Kansas-bred horses winning certain races in Kansas may receive purse supplements from the fund. The purpose of this regulation is to enhance and encourage the horse breeding industry in Kansas and to provide moneys for equine research through institutions of higher education under the State Board of Regents.

The economic impact of these set of regulations affects the horseowners who pay a commission-approved fee to the registry that is part of this program and a second fee to certify their stallions and mares as qualified to participate as breeding stock eligible to receive awards from the fund. The fees are used solely to support the administrative costs of the registry and certification service. The development fund is created from the breakage and unclaimed tickets of Kansas-licensed horse racetracks, estimated nationally at 1.3 percent of the total annual handle, a term meaning the total amount of money handled as wagers.

K.A.R. 112-13-2 includes the procedure for registration of a greyhound as a Kansas-whelped greyhound. The regulation also allocates percentages of the Greyhound Breeding Development Fund to the greyhound tourism fund, research within Kansas relating to the prevention of greyhound diseases and injuries, and to supplement stake races for Kansas-whelped greyhounds. Fees to support the administrative costs of the program are to be determined by the commission and charged by an official registration agency, which may be an independent contractor.

The economic impact of this regulation affects the greyhound owners who pay a commission-approved fee for the registration of their Kansas-whelped greyhounds with the official registering agency. The fees are used solely to support the administrative costs of the registration and certification service. The development fund is created from the breakage and unclaimed tickets of Kansas-licensed greyhound racetracks in Kansas.

(3) be involved in a direct, supervisory, or consultative relationship to the client or to those persons using test findings for decision-making regarding the client;

(4) assume the same degree of responsibility for the validity and reliability of interpretive statements and soundness of inferences, judgments, and recommendations based on computer-generated test results as would be assured if the master level psychologist had personally examined the client; and

(5) make an explicit statement on the report as to whether the master level psychologist has seen or examined the client in person. (Authorized by and implementing K.S.A. 1987 Supp. 74-5370; effective, T-_____, _____; effective Jan. 30, 1989.)
